

The Rockingham Group Receives the Charlie Wampler, Jr. Community Builder Award from the United Way

May 26, 2010
Harrisonburg, Virginia

Neal Menefee, President and CEO of the Rockingham Group, accepted the Charlie Wampler, Jr. Community Builder award today, on behalf of the company.

Charlie Wampler led the effort to create the United Way of Harrisonburg and Rockingham County fifty two years ago. The award personifies Charlie Wampler and honors an organization that embodies the mission of United Way - improving people's lives by mobilizing the community to create lasting change. The United Way's Board of Directors selected the Rockingham Group to receive the award this year.

The Rockingham Group employees Live United® - giving, advocating, and volunteering for this important organization in our community. We are honored to be recognized for this work.

Judith Trumbo and Betsy Hay of the United Way of Harrisonburg and Rockingham County present the award to Rockingham Group President, Neal Menefee.
